a careful review has revealed significant scope to modernize and better align the mac dsa with its objectives and the imf s lending framework this note proposes replacing the current framework with a new methodology based on risk assessments at three different horizons extensive testing has shown that the proposed framework has much better predictive accuracy than the current one in addition to predicting sovereign stress the framework can be used to derive statements about debt stabilization under current policies and about debt sustainability the debt sustainability framework for low income countries lic dsf has been the cornerstone of assessments of risks to debt sustainability in lics the framework classifies countries based on their assessed debt carrying capacity estimates threshold levels for selected debt burden indicators evaluates baseline projections and stress test scenarios relative to these thresholds and then combines indicative rules and staff judgment to assign risk ratings of external debt distress the framework has demonstrated its operational value since the last review was conducted in 2012 but there are areas where new features can be introduced to enhance its performance in assessing risks against the backdrop of the evolving nature of risks facing lics both staff analysis and stakeholder feedback suggest gaps in the framework to be addressed complexity and lack of transparency have also been highlighted as causes for concern this paper proposes a set of reforms to enhance the value of the lic dsf for all users in developing these reforms staff has been guided by two over arching principles a the core architecture of the dsf model based results complemented by judgment remains appropriate and b reforms should ensure that the dsf maintains an appropriate balance by providing countries with early warnings of potential debt distress without unnecessarily constraining their borrowing for development the western pacific regional food safety strategy 2011 2015 has contributed to good progress in food safety across the western pacific region however more than 125 million people fall ill and more than 50 000 die annually from unsafe food in the region food safety is a highly complex health issue involving multiple domestic and international stakeholders over recent years new developments including the introduction of new technologies increasing internationalization of the food chain and demographic changes have affected food safety in the region the changing context of food safety affects food safety risk management as well as trust in the safety of the food supply food safety trust is a multifaceted issue and an outcome of effective food safety systems at the same time it serves as an enabler for strengthening food safety systems to manage food safety risks and respond to food safety incidents and emergencies the regional framework for action on food safety in the western pacific builds on the achievement and lessons learnt from the 2011 2015 strategy it acknowledges the changing context of food safety and revisits the approach for strengthening national food safety systems this includes a stronger focus on building trust and confidence in food safety systems and implementing strategic actions that create leadership partnerships competency and resources that are the necessary enablers for advancing food safety systems the framework provides guidance on strategic action and a stepwise approach to strengthen food safety systems to better manage food safety risks and respond to food safety incidents and emergencies it is intended to guide national food safety authorities in implementation of strategic action to strengthen national food safety systems as well as to obtain and advocate for high level political support to enhance food safety it is also intended to facilitate regional cooperation among food safety authorities
